Opening Doors Together 2025

August 26-27, 2025

Best Western Hotel & Conference Center, Harrisburg, PA

Inglis Self-Determination Housing of Pennsylvania believes that accessible housing is a human right for everyone, and that all individuals with disabilities should have access to safe, affordable, and accessible housing.

Join Inglis alongside thought leaders from across Pennsylvania, as we share some of the latest innovations in service delivery; creative alternative support solutions and assistive technologies; and updates on advocacy opportunities and the policy shifts impacting housing access in the disability and aging adult communities.

The conference aims to further SDHP's mission of bridging the information gap between providers and connecting with others in the accessible housing community while continuing to advocate for the vulnerable populations we serve, specifically those with disabilities and seniors. The goal of the 2025 Conference is to bring together thought leaders, professionals, and advocates to share knowledge and foster meaningful dialogue that advances accessible, inclusive housing for all.

This year includes two days of workshops and keynote speakers and access to recordings of all workshops after the close of the conference. In expanding and enhancing access to these important issues, Inglis is demonstrating our commitment to serving as leaders in the field of accessible and affordable housing for people with disabilities.

Workshop Topics may include:

- Innovations in accessible and affordable housing design
- Policy changes impacting housing for people with disabilities and older adults
- Best practices for creating community-based housing models
- Technology's role in improving accessibility in housing
- Strategies for addressing housing equity and inclusion

Together with a range of stakeholders and influencers, we will intentionally bring systemic issues to the forefront of the larger conversation, share ideas and best practices, explore potential solutions, and impact powerful positive changes.

About Inglis

Inglis meets people where they are and helps remove barriers to redefine ability and independence.

Since 1877, Inglis has served adults who live with a wide range of physical and mobility disabilities and continually adapts to the evolving needs of those we serve.

Inglis supports the disability community by:

- Building new homes, modifying existing homes, and providing the supportive services for independent, accessible, and affordable housing solutions.
- Focusing on Assistive Technology, both out-of-the-box and emerging, as an incredible tool for empowerment & access.
- Setting the standard for disability-competent, person-centered care through innovative service delivery, enhanced day services, and quality-of-life programming.
- Addressing the whole person through behavioral health, employment, and other services.

Inglis Self-Determination Housing of PA

Inglis Self-Determination Housing of Pennsylvania is a statewide program of Inglis SDHP advocates for accessible, affordable, and integrated housing opportunities for individuals with disabilities and older adults throughout the commonwealth.

We leverage our collective knowledge to connect stakeholders with information and resources to increase choice and affordability in housing for people with disabilities, so that a person's disability, or wealth, is never a barrier for accessing a home that is properly configured for their enjoyment and personal comfort.
