2019 GOLF OUTING BENEFICIARY

BUILDING AN ENHANCED DAY PROGRAM

The Inglis Day Program is, by far, one of a kind. Since 1968, it has served a diverse group of individuals, 18 years and older, and fills an enormous gap in care for those living within the community.

The program's current location, situated on the Inglis House campus, can no longer serve the future of the program: an anticipated implementation of a new federal regulation will prohibit it from operating on the same site as a long-term care setting.

Inglis now has the opportunity to provide an enhanced level of care for even more individuals whose home care may not be able to fully accommodate their needs. Enhanced Day Programs provide an additional layer of services that address the whole person, from extended hours to accessible bathing facilities to an onsite registered nurse.

Our Opportunity to Do More

Migrating to an enhanced model will make a direct impact on the daily lives of the people we serve. Inglis is the only Day Program in the Philadelphia County serving primarily people under 60 with physical disabilities. Inglis plans to move the program to a new custom-designed, disability-informed location to serve a greater number of consumers with varied and complex needs as well as integrate the unique services Inglis provides, including our state-of-the-art Adapted Technology program.

Capital funds are needed to help underwrite the cost of construction, as well as equipment and supplies. Please consider helping Inglis strengthen its services to our community-based consumers while broadening our ability to serve younger people with disabilities.

About Inglis

For more than 140 years, Inglis has been an innovator in programs and services that enable people with disabilities — and those who care for them — to achieve their goals and live life to the fullest. Inglis serves more than 1,000 people a year who live either independently in the community or at Inglis House, a specialty nursing long-term care community for 252 adults who have paraplegia or quadriplegia.

MEET ALANA

Research shows that Day Programs keep people healthier, happier and living in the community by positively impacting physical and psychological functioning through reduced feelings of social isolation, anxiety, and depression.

Alana, who has CP, graduated from HMS School in 2013. After graduation, she and her mother explored her options and decided a social day program was the best fit for her. Alana enjoys coming four days a week, and she volunteers at the HMS School on her off day.

At the Inglis Day Program, she enjoys spending time with her friends - both as part of structured programs such as weekly Women's Issues Group, Baking Club, and the Wii Sports Team - as well as unstructured time relaxing. She receives compassionate care from Inglis staff, who make sure she is safely on her way back home each day via SEPTA CCT.

While Alana is at Inglis, her mother (who also serves as her caregiver) can feel confident knowing that Alana is pursuing her dreams in a safe and supportive environment.
